

A map of Virginia divided into counties, colored according to the number of years since the last census. The colors range from yellow (1-4 years) to dark purple (10+ years). The map shows that most counties have been censused within the last 4 years, with a few exceptions in the western and northern parts of the state.

[illegible]